HONOR THY MOTHER

An Englishman was rather astounded by the observance of so many "special days" and asked why we set aside these occasions if not purely for mercenary reasons. Our reply was that it seemed to be the American way. We admit being a sentimental people and are rather proud of it, even though it may be bad taste to make a public demonstration of private feelings. But we cannot be censured when the idea is purely of respectful salutation. It is true that the event has been commercialized, and we regret it, but there are those of us who will not permit this to spoil the deeper meaning.

The Ten Commandments have been broken by most of us. They have been thought old-fashioned and overtaken by a more streamlined civilization. But one of these will never be denied by man, "Honor thy Father and thy Mother." The worst of us, who will heedlessly break and scorn the other commandments, cling to this family creed above all else. Despite all the modern methods of living and the forces working against it, the life of the family survives. The family that exists in a healthier, more modern, involved and distracted, goes on and counts itself fortunate to have lost everything else perhaps, but not its family life. It is to the mothers we pay our honor, to her we make our bows of respect. The heart overflows but the ink grows dry on the pen. The tongue desists speech but the words die on the lips. The gift is a small offering, but to a valiant soul. The inspiration of poets and song-writers, the subject for painter and photographer, may not want so much sentiment. But we continue to honor mother and the institution of our family life. We cling to our sentiments, which makes us conscious of the happiness and the misery of others; the sentiment which has its seat in the heart. Let us lose every modern and supercharged habit, if we must, but never let us lose the respect and love we have for the family. This is indeed, the American way.

June 30 Is Date Set For Starting Work On Federal Project

Titles Must Be Cleared And Work Begun By That Time

The construction of two large migratory labor camps in Belle Glade, representing a federal government expenditure of nearly $500,000, will probably be started before June 30, it was announced last week by a spokesman of the Farm Security Administration, the agency supporting the project.

Two separate investigations have been made of local labor situations, officials of the F.S.A. have made plans for the two camps that are to be established in Belle Glade, one for 100 white people and one for negroes.

Funds are available for starting the two housing projects in Belle Glade during the current fiscal year, it was announced. Unless work gets under way by June 30, the funds will revert to the agency treasurer and it will be necessary to obtain another allocation.

The starting of work depends on how soon the titles to the sites in question can be cleared. The white project will accommodate 171 families and is to be located on a 160-acre tract north of the packing house district and west of the railroad tracks. It will cost an estimated $184,500.

The negro project, accommodating 84 families and costing $268,800, will occupy a 60-acre site on State Road 25 near Vinegar Road. Each camp will contain corrugated iron shelter, built in two units of one room each for white occupants and four units of one room each for negroes. In addition there will be a smaller number of four room frame houses, each occupying one-third of an acre of ground, which will be rented to permanent dwellers as substance houses. Occupants of these houses will be required to grow vegetables for their own use and to can produce for consumption during the non-growing season. The work will be by contract and it is probable that some will be asked for in the near future. Regional headquarters of the F.S.A. are located at Birmingham, Ala. E. S. Morgan is regional director of that office.

The purpose behind the program, according to an official of the department, is not only to provide decent living accommodations for seasonal workers but to help stabilize the labor situation by encouraging workers to remain here throughout the year. As the demand for substance houses increases, more of them will be added. The rental charges have not been determined as yet.

In surveying the prevailing labor situation in Belle Glade, it was found that approximately one-third of the farm and packing house labor in Belle Glade is employed year-round for about eight months. The remaining two-thirds work from two to six months in this vicinity.

Officials of the Farm Security Administration, in Belle Glade, making preliminary arrangements for construction of two migratory labor camps, said that similar camps will probably be located at Pabok and Clewiston, as well as other places in Florida.
